

One Scientist's Fight to Figure the CANCER DISEASE- PLEASE, PLEASE, READ the STORY

Written by Fatima Suljagic (Art Studio Maja, Melbourne, Australia)

When I started this social media I had interests of wide international community on my mind. I have spent years studying food science, nutrition and medicine to be able to solve health problems we have in this modern time. I recently claimed that I have figured things out, during my research, linked to modern diseases and cancer, and I really have. I told you that I am connected deeper to things than others, and that is true too.

I want to tell you that some trying, as we speak, to claim my findings in the scientific research as their own, and that is not right. I won't let that happen. First because It is my work and I had no help from my supervisors in my research and second you should never claim somebody's work as your own, because it is not right. Not just that these people did not help me, they did not even support me in my research or accepted my research results.

I have sent my research reports to top medical professionals in Australia including Health and Education Ministers and Mayo Clinic in America, just to end up without any degree or any recognition at so ever.

What the CANCER is? - PLEASE READ

In my reports I said that CANCER is disease induced by overwhelming number of damaged cells in which our body creates cysts to pack the demigod cells to prevent them of reproducing. Cysts also pack the cancerous agents to stop them of spreading throughout the body and damaging more cells. I also reported that biggest damage of the cells occurs at the chemical unbalance. Chemical unbalance can occur due to two reasons 1) Due to direct chemical intoxication from the air, food and water, and 2) Due to chemical production and cell damage by microorganisms. Microorganisms, in their metabolic activity, produce toxic chemicals causing the severe damage to cells; therefor, damage to organs, glands, nerves and brain.

Most dangerous micro-organisms are sprogenic (the microorganisms that use spores as a way of reproduction), as these are very small in size and can easily penetrate our body system, involving into the systemic chronicle diseases. I believe that all viruses in modern medicine are due to sporogenic activity of micro-organisms. I also found out that high acidity promote sprogenic micro-organisms to overgrow, ether in the nature or in the human body. Sporginic micro-organisms are: all fungi, moulds, some bacteria inducing clostridium. I believe that hepatitis is product of these spores as well. The yeast infections are also sporogenic and I believe strongly that mycobacterium is endosporogenic. As these promote one another in chronicle infection diseases development.

But health industry is so manipulated by profit that does not want to acknowledge the facts. So, there you have it. Please note that this is part of my research reports and it is Fatima Suljagic (Art Studio Maja Pty Ltd) intellectual property or copyright. If you have any questions or like to discuss this with Fatima, for more info contact Ph: +61 3 9741 7056.